

Smart Factory Solutions Europe
Budapest Training Center

The new training center for your efficiency of today and tomorrow.

The Budapest Training Center

Panasonic offers modular training courses for factory solutions. The curriculum consists of training modules tailor made to any role in your organization. Therefore, the new training center in Budapest has now opened its doors to empower your workforce with our modular role based training programs for operators, advanced operators, process engineers and programmers of SMT factories.

The Trainings

Thanks to its modular structure, specific trainings can be combined individually to address the different skill levels operators and maintenance staff may have. Our hands-on expert-led trainings help improving the expertise of the personnel involved in production planning and the manufacturing process.

We currently offer basic and advanced trainings for the modular NPM-W2 and the NPM-WX platforms as well as parts recognition training in Budapest.
